Continue frequent shallow cultivation of crops. It is necessary in order to kill young weeds and prevent rapid loss of moisture by evaporation.

Plant sorghum for fall forage and to fill silos.

Continue to sow cow peas in stubble and in corn when you lay it by.

Plant second crop of Irish potatoes. Lookout Mountain is one good variety to plant now.

I have listed with me nearly 3 tons home grown Crimson Clover seed, grown and gathered by farmers in Newberry county. There is probably one or more tons not yet reported that will be for sale. We know that these seeds are pure and that they will germinate. These seeds are being offered in the rough state at about 5 to 6 cents per pound. Twenty-five to 30 pounds are enough to seed an acre.

Those who expect to sow Crimson Clover this fall should patronize these farmers and buy the home grown seed in preference to buying from the seed houses. I have not had a single failure reported to me last season where home grown seed were sown. I have had many failures reported where imported seed were sown. Many farmers say that they would rather have home grown seed in the rough than imported seed CLEANED at the same price. Get in touch with me and buy what seed you want before they are all shipped out of the county. You will have to pay more if you wait too late.

FOR SALE.

WORLD'S RICHEST WOMAN.

Mrs. Hettie Green Dies at New York Home.

Mrs. Hettie Green, said to be the wealthiest woman in the world, died at her home here today at 8:05 o'clock. She had suffered three strokes of paralysis during the past two months and for several weeks had been practically helpless. She was 80 years old.

Her death occurred at the home of her son, Col. Edward R. H. Green, at No. 5 West 90th street, adjoining the plain brick four-story house at No. 7 on the corner of Central Park West, where Mrs. Green had lived lately in seclusion, except for her son and several Japanese servants and trained nurses. For several weeks past Mrs. Green had been unable to walk and had spent practically all of her time in a wheel chair.

Her son, Col. Green, and her daughter, Mrs. Matthew Astor Wilkes, who were the only children, had been with her much of the time. It recently was reported that Mrs. Green had turned over all of her financial affairs to her son's charge.

Wall street's estimates of Mrs. Green's fortune range from $20,000,000 to $100,000,000. Officials of the Chemical National bank, in which Mrs. Green once made her downtown headquarters, declined to hazard a guess concerning the size of her estate.

Until a few years ago Mrs. Green was a familiar figure in the financial district, but latterly her appearance there had been very infrequent. It is believed that a considerable part of her money was invested in first mortgage and high class railroad bonds, although she was said at one time to have large sums invested in shares of the smaller Southern and Southwestern railroads, including several in which her son was actively identified.

Mrs. Green also was the reputed owner of large tracts of land in Texas, Alabama and other Southern States, but it is believed that she sold the last of these holdings a few years ago.

Hettie Green was the world's most remarkable mistress of finance. The fortune she has left is close to $100,000,000. The richest woman in America, she lived almost as frugally as a shop girl. Her home was wherever she chose for a time to hang her little black cape and bonnet, often in the hall bedroom of some cheap boarding house, or in some remote and modest flat around New York.

Her eccentric extremes of economy led to a popular misconception of her as a "self-made woman." As a matter of fact she was born rich. In 1866 she inherited some $10,000,000 which accumulated upon itself until in 50 years it had multiplied nearly ten times. She also inherited family traditions which had been a pride for three centuries, and which she was anxious to perpetuate in her children.

She was born at New Bedford, Mass., "in November, 1834, about the 20th," according to her testimony at one time in court. She was a descendant on her mother's side of Henry Howland, brother of Pilgrim John Howland of the Mayflower.

MAXWELL SPRINGS SEASON'S SURPRISE

Company Lowers Price With Everybody Set for a Boost.

Sometimes there is a surprise in the motor car industry that is funny only to a very few. Often the surprise is perpetrated to the chagrin of some particular person. But the Maxwell Motor Company seems to have sprung a surprise and yet to have made a really enjoyable bit of pleasure out of it for all concerned.

During the months just previous to the company's 1917 announcement, there was a continual flood of letters into the offices of the Maxwell Motor Company, asking about prices for the coming season. In every letter there was this question: "How much will the price be raised?"

The dealers were so sure of the raise in price that they didn't think to consider anything else. They wanted to know what they would have to work on, how much more they would have to get from their purchasers. And also many of the wise old owls who are always to be found ready with expert opinions where motor car topics are discussed, intimated very frankly that the Maxwell Company was one of the many which would have to raise prices. Simply no other solution, the prices must go up.

Then imagine the surprise when the Maxwell Company announced one of the greatest reductions in price since the establishment of the company. They couldn't believe it—it simply couldn't be true. Again the telegrams began to pour into the offices at Detroit. "What does this mean?" They wanted to believe the good news, but didn't want to get their systems all saturated with satisfaction until they could be sure the good news had been verified. They were not going to take any chances on a matter so important.

"I couldn't believe it!" wrote one dealer, "because I didn't think it possible for you to give any more value. But now that I know the new prices are right, that the good news is true, I begin to realize what the Maxwell policy really means. Give me all the cars for territory that you can spare."

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

HEAT FLASHES, DIZZY, NERVOUS

Mrs. Wynn Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her During Change of Life.

Richmond, Va.—"After taking seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel like a new woman. I always had a headache during the Change of Life and was also troubled with other bad feelings common at that time—dizziness, nervous feelings and heat flashes. Now I am in better health than I ever was and recommend your remedies to all my friends."

—Mrs. LENA WYNN, 2812 E. O Street, Richmond, Va.

While Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, the annoying symptoms which accompany it may be controlled, and normal health restored by the timely use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Such warning symptoms are a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness.

For these abnormal conditions do not fail to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

LOW PRICES AUTO TIRES DUE MAINLY TO GOODRICH

Being Largest Makers Their Influence Restrains Others From Unduly Raising Prices.

Akron, O., June 28.—In its current advertising in the newspapers The B. F. Goodrich Co. is asking motorists to help the company in holding down and even further reducing the prices in automobile tires.

15 per cent. to 50 per cent. higher prices could well be justified for Goodrich Tires by fair comparison with other tires sold at 15 per cent. to 50 per cent. higher prices, for, states the Company, better fabric tires than Goodrich are not made and cannot be made at any price.

Low Tire Prices Encourage Motor-ing.

Inasmuch, however, as the value of owning an automobile depends on the number of hours of actual use derived therefrom, and as the extent of use depends largely upon the price of gasoline and tires, the Goodrich Company believes in making it possible for a motorist to use his car a great deal by supplying tires at reasonable cost.

This was one of the reasons why in January, 1916, the Goodrich Company inaugurated its FAIR-LIST propaganda against high prices and "padded" price-lists on tires, and why the Company continues to hold to its moderate fair-list prices to the consumer.

Restrains Others From Price "Boost-ing."

Being by far the largest auto and truck tire makers in America, the Goodrich influence upon the market restrains others from unduly raising tire prices to the limit, which a fast-increasing demand for tires, it is said, is sorely tempting manufacturers to charge.

The statement to the public concludes: "Will you help your own interests (present and future) by further expanding the sale of that tire which demonstrates its intention through lowering the cost of its tires to you, with every increase in volume? Will you thus endorse and support a policy which prevents others from forcing up the market in tires?"

Goodrich Accords Liberal Treatment. The motorist is then asked to compare Goodrich Fair List prices and to bear in mind that no fabric tires, at any price, are "better," and that no house is more fair and liberal on proper adjustments than is The B. F. Goodrich Company.

A Card to Owners of Rural Telephone Lines

We are anxious to see that all lines owned by other parties and connected with us are kept in such condition as to furnish efficient service. Where the owners of rural lines are responsible for their upkeep, we want to co-operate with them.

All lines require a thorough overhauling occasionally if the best service is to be obtained. We recommend that every line connected with us be overhauled at least once a year, and that at least one experienced telephone man assist in this work. The cost of this work when divided among all the patrons of the line, makes the amount paid by each man small, and this cost will be more than offset by the improved service.

If the owners of rural telephone lines in this section are experiencing trouble with their service, we will appreciate their talking the matter over with our Manager or writing us fully. We will gladly do what we can toward helping you improve the condition of your line.
